

Assessment of a Student's Progress

Assessment is the process of identifying, gathering and interpreting information about student achievement. Assessment can be used for a number of key purposes, including to:

- assist student learning.
- evaluate and improve teaching and learning programs.
- provide information on student learning and progress in a course in relation to the syllabus outcomes.
- provide evidence of satisfactory completion of a course.
- report on the achievement by each student at the end of a course.

Assessment Tasks and Exams

Each subject department has its own policy regarding across-the-board tasks and exams. Students should be given sufficient notification of such exams and the components to be tested in each. Students failing to complete such tasks or exams, because of illness or other misadventure, will be required to present a doctor's certificate or written evidence. Students may be asked to sit a substitute task (at the discretion of the Studies Co-ordinator).

Absence from Assessment Events or on the Due Date of an Assessment Task

In the event of absence from an assessment event or on the due date of an assessment task, the following process must be followed:

Students must notify by phone the Guidance Co-ordinator on the morning of their absence. The Guidance Co-ordinator will in turn notify the relevant Studies Co-ordinator. Absence with good cause, with written evidence or a Doctor's Certificate, will be accepted at the discretion of the Studies Co-ordinator. This evidence must be handed to the Guidance Co-ordinator before 9:00 am on the day the student returns to school. A student absent from an examination must report ready to do the examination on her first day back to class.

Cheating

A mark of zero will be accorded the student found to be cheating or submitting, as her own, another's work, or who brings a mobile phone or electronic equipment into any Assessment Task.

Substitute Assessment Tasks

Substitute Assessment Tasks may be given at the discretion of the Studies Co-ordinator.

Technology Failure

Technology failure is not an acceptable excuse for the late submission of a task. Students are encouraged to keep draft copies and notes related to assessment tasks which must be submitted in the event of technology failure. These will be regarded as final assessment submission.
